

SPECIFIC GRANT ALLOCATION FOR LOWELL WILLIAMS C8422

Lowell was diagnosed with colon cancer in September of 2009. He has undergone several rounds of chemotherapy treatments and had surgery to remove the tumor. For those of you who have flown with Lowell, you know how enthusiastic he is about aviation. He has an amazing spirit and is focused on beating the cancer that has taken control of his body. He is most grateful for any financial assistance his flying partners are able to provide and he looks forward to the time he will be able to return to flying.

Lowell has reached the lifetime maximum distribution of $5,000.00, but is still battling cancer and in need of financial assistance. Pegasus has set up a specific grant allocation for him, which allows members to make donations that will go directly to Lowell through Pegasus. The donors receive a tax deduction and Lowell will continue to receive financial support while he continues to receive treatment. If you would like to support Lowell you may fill out the Specific Grant Form and make a check payable to Pegasus. Thank you for your generosity!
